Hello Keith,

I still have the notes from my meeting with the Middle School students.

They remarked that Dr. Bookwalter is in their opinion a model Director. The MS students really liked you as a principal, and thought the new Director of CNG should have many of the skills and personality traits that Dr. Bookwalter exhibits.

My notes from my meeting read, "He knows students in the middle school well and calls them by name. They described him as hard working and as a principal who encourages student input and feedback. He is very visible, and he invites students for lunch in his office. He joins the students in their meetings and activities – like field day, where he wore a MS Field Day T-shirt! He challenges students to do their best without being intimidating."

These are wonderful comments from the middle school students!!

Have a great day,
