To whom it may concern:

When we knew that a new preschool and primary principal was coming to our school, most of us teachers were anxious to meet the new person who would be our boss. Finally, he arrived and it was wonderful to meet him – Dr. Keith Bookwalter or Mr. B., as he preferred to be called.

During the last two years we found many positive qualities in our principal. He conveyed calm with his gaze and was a wonderful human being; a spiritual man who sought always to transmit knowledge and happiness to teachers and students.

We felt confident in having him as the coordinator because our point of view was important for him and he supported us with the various challenges that we faced – especially the implementation of the Developmental Activities Program (dap) that he taught to many of us.

Mr. B. always found good things in all of us as persons and as professionals and he let us know what the good things were. It was so nice to see him every morning at the entrance saying hello to the teachers and the students with a big smile.

Mr. B., during his tenure at Liceo Inglés as our principal, left an unforgettable mark.

Sincerely,
